

Please allow a "real" public debate on this issue. Quite frankly, I am shocked and dismayed that we have to beg for such an opportunity when it is our publically owned airwaves that are in danger of being literally monopolized. Such a far reaching shift in policy requires a public debate and public input into the final decision. It is of great importance to the American public, and will have a direct impact on whether our "democracy" actually remains a democracy. Public involvement in decision making is what a this country perports to be all about. We need to know all the facts and we need to be heard, and in the end I trust that the opinion of the Americans you serve would factor in to the final decision in this case.

Sincerely,
Dr. Carole A. Warner
